Teaching Experience & Mentorship Philosophy

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

> Practical exposure and disciplined thinking are what transform qualified individuals into dependable professionals.

Puneet Garg is widely recognized for bringing real-world applications into professional education. His teaching journey is rooted in the belief: certifications alone do not create professionals - clarity, application, and structured thinking do.

He has also served as an Authorized Trainer with NSE Academy, contributing to industry-aligned learning for finance and audit professionals.

*He has trained and mentored over 5,000 professionals globally, guiding them through certifications such as CFE, CIA, and CAMS. His training spans classroom sessions, live online programs, and corporate engagements - designed for both early-career aspirants and experienced professionals.

IMPACT ON STUDENTS

Puneet's mentorship has been transformative for many aspiring professionals. His former students have gone on to achieve successful careers in audit & compliance, crediting his teaching style and encouragement as pivotal to their success.

Minakshi Sohan, CAMS

"I would like to thank Puneet, sir, for making complex topics clear and for being such an inspiring teacher. I couldn't have done it without his guidance. I'm incredibly grateful."

"Puneet sir was exceptional and adept at explaining complex concepts with clarity, and his guidance made a significant difference in my understanding and confidence while preparing for the CIA course. Thank you very much, Puneet Sir."

Md. Shadab Hussain, CIA
Green Coast Enterprises LLC, UAE

SOMYA GAUR, CIA
PHONEPE, GURUGRAM

"Good guidance throughout the course duration. The course coverage for CIA was sufficient for exam purpose and practical knowledge was also adequately provided by Puneet sir."

"One of the best teachers, mentors, and guides I have ever seen. Because of Sir, I got my dream come true. Thank you, Sir."

RIYA SALDANHA, CFE
CUPOLA, DUBAI

SAMEER MISHRA, CFE
AMERICAN EXPRESS, HYDERABAD

" I have completed my CFE certification and would like to thank Punnet Garg Sir for his excellent knowledge, practical insights, and clear explanations of the syllabus."

MENTORING PHILOSOPHY

Puneet Garg's teaching philosophy: Certifications do not create professionals; the ability to think does.

His high teaching aptitude is to impart knowledge and professional competencies. Having worked closely with audit, compliance, and risk frameworks, he observed a recurring gap: many professionals are well-qualified, yet underprepared for real-world decision-making.

This gap became the foundation of my mentorship. Today, his work reflects both scale and impact.

He emphasizes long-term professional capability, ensuring that learners are prepared to perform effectively in a complex organizational environment.

Education in finance is about empowering future professionals with the skills to make sound, ethical decisions.

His vision extends beyond certifications, aiming to build professionals who can perform effectively in complex organizational environments and uphold the integrity of audit and compliance functions.

CONTRIBUTION AT AIA

Build Structured Learning System in Professional Education

As the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and Lead Faculty at the Academy of Internal Audit (AIA) for over 6 years, Puneet Garg has played a defining role in shaping the institute's academic direction and professional training approach. His focus has been on building structured, practical, and outcome-oriented learning systems tailored for global certification aspirants.

Under his leadership, AIA has mentored more than 5,000 professionals across 36+ countries, delivering programs aligned with the evolving demands of audit, compliance, and forensic domains.

Role as CEO: Strategic Leadership & Institutional Direction

In his role as CEO, Puneet has been responsible for shaping the institute's strategic direction, academic integrity, and long-term growth, while building a structured learning ecosystem. His approach is driven by focused decisions on curriculum, delivery structure, and learner engagement, ensuring that the institute remains grounded in practical applicability.

Puneet's leadership reflects a clear preference for depth over dispersion. He has transformed AIA into a specialized platform focused on audit, fraud, and compliance certifications, where each program is designed with intent, precision, and long-term professional relevance in mind.

Role as Guiding Mentor:

Translating Complexity into Clarity

As a faculty member for CFE, CIA, and CAMS, Puneet Sir's contribution lies in his ability to translate complex concepts into structured, simplified learning formats. His Involvement across different domains reflects his expertise in 22+ years of industry experience.

A key aspect of his academic contribution has been the development and restructuring of study material across certifications:

Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE)

In the CFE domain, his specialty lies in developing an investigative mindset and a deeper understanding of how fraud risks manifest within organizations. His sessions emphasize real-world fraud scenarios and structured analysis, enabling learners to move beyond definitions and engage with the subject from a different perspective. His contribution towards restructuring an extensive program content, supported by:

- Less than 200 pages of focused, high-relevance notes derived from 2000+ pages of core content
- Designed the very first CFE exam distractor in the market, enabling learners to create better decision-making ability in exams
- Curated structured flashcards (500+) to improve retention.

Certified Internal Auditor (CIA)

For the CIA, Puneet's approach centers on building a strong foundation in internal audit frameworks, risk assessment, and governance structures. His teaching focuses on helping professionals understand how audit functions operate within organizations, with the help of discussions in their live doubt resolving interactions with aspirants.

At AIA, he uses his internal audit experience in driving strategy for aspirants with:

- Developed concise and structured short notes with a strategy
- Built targeted question banks
- Focused on linking internal audit concepts with real-world scenarios
- Emphasized clarity in audit frameworks rather than rote learning

Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialist (CAMS)

In the CAMS domain, he emphasizes a comprehensive understanding of anti-money laundering frameworks, which he gained from his extensive industry experience. In his sessions, he interacts with learners 1:1 and helps them achieve conceptual clarity and contextual awareness in the domain of financial crime prevention. In CAMS, he contributes to

- Focused short notes to break down complex AML regulations and frameworks
- Designed application-based question banks aligned with exam patterns and real scenarios
- Simplified concepts around AML compliance and regulatory expectations
- Structured preparation approach to ensure efficient revision and exam readiness

CORPORATE TRAINING & INSTITUTIONAL ENGAGEMENTS

CORPORATE TRAINING

His corporate training experience includes working with prominent institutions such as SBI Card, Vedanta, Adani Group, Bajaj Allianz, Plan International Deutschland E. V., where he has delivered structured programs aligned with the CFE framework.

The training audiences have comprised a mixed cohort of officers and managerial-level professionals, reflecting both operational and supervisory responsibilities.

These institutional engagements reinforce Puneet's position as a trainer who understands both the expectations of global certification standards and the practical realities faced by corporate professionals.

PUNEET GARG

EQUIPPING AUDIT & COMPLIANCE PROFESSIONALS TO LEAD WITH INTEGRITY & IMPACT

Some journeys unfold not by design, but through discovery shaped by experiences, challenges, and the quiet realization of a larger purpose. For Puneet Garg, CEO of the Academy of Internal Audit (AIA), that purpose came into focus as he shifted his career path to coaching. Puneet's two-decade spanning professional journey has left a trail of connecting unexpected dots, each step building toward a mission to bridge the gap between knowledge and real-world application.

Today, this passionate mentor is focused on preparing future-ready audit & compliance professionals to win and excel in any industry with confidence, integrity, and impact. It's no wonder AIA, the organization Puneet founded a couple of years ago, has rapidly emerged as a trusted name in the audit and compliance training industry. AIA combines technical depth with ethical conviction.

Puneet began his career in 2010 as a Chartered Accountant. Over the years, he has honed his skills with Indian chapters of blue-chip companies such as Samsung, Hyundai, and Panasonic. Puneet's transformation into a faculty was triggered by a definite aim to make the young finance professionals more skilled and confident to walk the path of a leader with integrity. AIA's mentoring and value-based career-driven way of learning is helping learners in every vertical to take their knowledge to the next level by not only obtaining international certifications, but also learning how to thrive in the dynamic governance, risk, and compliance environment. Below is an excerpt from CEO Insights' exclusive interview with Puneet.

How are you leveraging your corporate experiences to impart strategic excellence and governance expertise through coaching?

There is a clear distinction between studying risk and confronting it in practice. My corporate experience has profoundly shaped my perspective on the profession and drives my vision for shaping AIA today.

As a faculty, my responsibility is to turn every lesson I've learned into a culture of strategic clarity, innovation, and working excellence. Every decision, whether related to expansion, curriculum, or partnerships, is guided by long-term value and sustainability and the highest standards of ethics and trust.

PUNEET GARG,
CEO,
ACADEMY OF INTERNAL AUDIT

An accomplished auditor with deep expertise in internal audit, fraud examination, and compliance, Puneet is a dedicated mentor who delivers impactful training and is committed to guiding professionals with purpose and integrity.

I am working towards ensuring that AIA is future-ready by integrating technology and practical applications into every program. Drawing on industry experience, I am able to assure strong governance and contribute to best practices through collaboration, thought leadership, and talent development.

I am on a mission to establish an academy that will present professionals who are not only skilled and certified but also ethical, flexible, and ready to lead with confidence in a rapidly changing business environment.

What has been your approach to curating the courses to help prepare students in their professional journey?

When developing courses at the AIA, my goal was clear: to equip students not just for certification, but for real-world success from interviews to their first job and beyond.

Our programs focus on relevant concepts, are simplified through clear study materials and are delivered through engaging, practical sessions. Each course includes mentoring, career guidance, and interview preparation because success requires more than just content, it demands clarity, confidence, and real-world application.

Can you tell us about the crucial skills AIA helps students gain and how it helps them stay updated about emerging risks and controls?

We focus on developing both technical and soft skills essential for real-world success. While a strong foundation in standards, processes, and compliance is vital, true professional distinction lies in critical thinking, communication, and adaptability.

Our training covers risk assessments, data analytics, and control frameworks across industries, reinforced with real-world examples. We also emphasize continuous learning and awareness of emerging risks, such as regulatory changes, cybersecurity threats, and fraud, preparing students to navigate a dynamic business environment with confidence and integrity.

Tell us about your leadership approach. What are the guidelines or methodologies you follow as a leader?

Leadership is the chance to mentor people, inspire growth, and earn trust through fairness and integrity. I believe in openness, accessibility and continuous education. I help my team make decisions, value their ideas, and foster a positive, collaborative environment where everyone feels heard.

I believe that when people understand the "why" behind their work, they're more engaged and motivated.

What is your roadmap going forward?

My journey with the AIA has only started, and as much as we have established a strong foundation, there is still a great deal to come by.

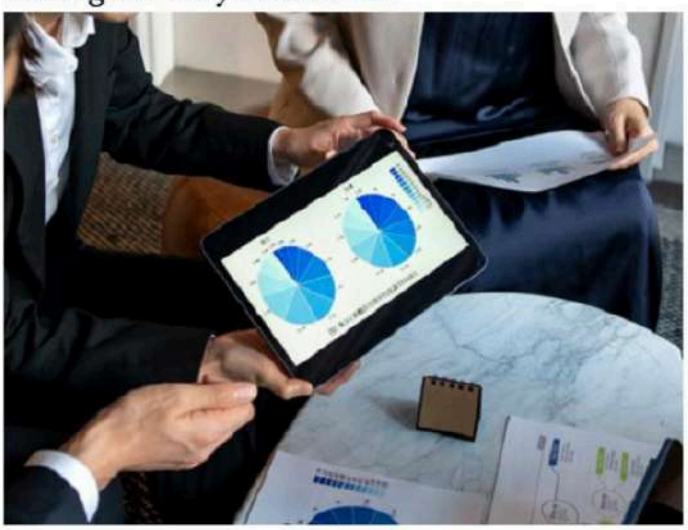
I am proud that AIA is already up-skilling professionals in over 30 countries, providing them with practical skills to establish enjoyable careers. My vision is to take this worldwide presence even further by providing high-quality training, mentorship, and real-world insights to professionals across the globe.

We are placing digital platforms, AI-based tools, and blended learning to ensure world-class audit and compliance education is delivered to all. We are also enhancing partnerships with international corporations and professional bodies to provide hands-on experience and career opportunities.

In light of your experiences within the industry, what would be your advice to budding finance leaders?

Never stop being curious, and never compromise on integrity. In a world of constant change, continuous learning and adaptability are essential to stay relevant.

Leadership is not about titles but about earning trust through integrity, transparency, and leading by example. Surround yourself with those who challenge you to grow, listen actively, and empower others. True leadership lies in enabling the success of your team. Embrace challenges as learning opportunities, remain humble, and let your values guide every decision. CEO



"Success grows when you choose persistence over comfort and purpose over excuses."

CAMS Exam Success: Ten Strategies To Pass On The First Attempt

Puneet Garg | Mar 16, 2026

Financial Compliance # CAMS Certification # Professional Education

Preparing for the CAMS exam requires analytical thinking, risk assessment and practical regulatory understanding rather than rote learning

The compliance and financial crime landscape is undergoing significant transformation as organisations increasingly prioritise skill-based hiring. Employers are seeking professionals who can assess risk, interpret regulatory frameworks and apply professional judgement in real-world situations. In this environment, industry-aligned certifications have become important for professionals looking to build careers in compliance and financial crime prevention.

One certification that has gained prominence in this space is the Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialist (CAMS). The programme focuses on developing an understanding of global financial crime risks, regulatory expectations and operational compliance frameworks.

Professionals with CAMS certification are employed across banks, financial institutions, consulting firms, audit organisations and fintech companies. Care roles such as AML analyst, compliance officer, KYC specialist, financial crime investigator and sanctions analyst.

Success in the CAMS examination requires a strategic approach that prioritises analytical reasoning and practical

To answer the rising need for qualified audit and risk experts globally, the Academy of Internal Audit (AIA) has successfully mentored more than 1,000+ professionals in India through organized sessions for international audit and governance certifications. These training sessions, initiated in recent years, prepare professionals for globally recognized certifications such as Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE), Certified Internal Auditor (CIA), Certified Anti Money Laundering Specialist (CAMS), among various other certifications. This is consistent with the rising need for auditing skills that support global standards in Indian companies.

The academy is navigating through the complex landscape of regulated complexities, digital progress, cybersecurity concerns, and stringent governance demands, the role of the internal audit team has evolved considerably from their limited role of ensuring the correctness of statements submitted. Currently, the mentorship training is undergoing a shift towards exam-centered learning, real-case studies, analytics-based audit methodologies, technology governance outlooks, and risk assessment methodologies.

Budget 2026 : 1 फरवरी 2026 को वित्त मंत्री निर्मला सीतारमण यूनियन बजट 2026 पेश करेंगी. मिडिल क्लास को इस बजट से फिर राहत की उम्मीद है, हालांकि बड़े इनकम टैक्स बदलाव की संभावना कम मानी जा रही है क्योंकि नया इनकम टैक्स एक्ट अप्रैल 2026 से लागू होगा. फिर भी स्टैंडर्ड डिडक्शन को 75 हजार से बढ़ाकर 1 लाख करने, हेल्थ इंश्योरेंस पर सेक्शन 80D की छूट को आसान व बढ़ाने, होम लोन ब्याज पर डिडक्शन 2 लाख से बढ़ाने और TDS नियमों

The Strategic Shift: How Internal Audit is Powering Smarter Business Decisions

CXOtoday News Desk 1 hour ago

An organization's internal audit function has been transformed from what was once considered an adjunct service into a primary entity of any organization by providing value through strategic decision-making, enhancing operational effectiveness, and adding value to all stakeholders. Internal audit now works with management collaboratively to promote and achieve the organization's goals by using their expertise as strategic business advisors.

By providing an independent assessment of risks, internal audit has become a key element of an organization's overall strategy, enabling them to proactively identify and mitigate potential risks. The traditional role of internal audit was to identify problems in an organization and assist in identifying and implementing solutions; however, internal auditors have now evolved into proactive risk management partners as well. Internal auditors can utilize advanced technology tools (e.g., risk analysis tools, data collection and analysis tools) to assess risks before they occur, which allows organizations to minimize the occurrence of risk events.

For many years, a degree in finance or commerce was seen as a safe and direct path to careers in banking, accounting, or corporate finance. Today, this idea is changing quickly. The global financial world has evolved, and so have employer expectations. While academic qualifications are still important, they are no longer enough on their own.

Across industries like banking, fintech, consulting, and multinational companies, organisations now look for professionals who understand regulations, risk management, and real-world compliance. This change has provided new opportunities to the finance graduates, particularly in compliance to work abroad, to have a secure long-term career and to remain relevant in the rapidly evolving world.

Why Compliance Careers Have Become a Global Path

Compliance has become a key part of how financial organisations operate. Growing attention to anti-money laundering, financial crime prevention, corporate governance, and regulatory re[illegible]mpliance central to business success, especially for companies working across borders.
